

Project:
*Medical Office Building
Bloomington, Indiana*

Seeking to consolidate multiple-specialty physicians into a central location, Internal Medicine Associates (IMA) chose the Irmischer team to design and construct a 67,000-sq. ft. medical center in Bloomington, Indiana.

The Irmischer team was selected because they are one of the nation's leaders in the design and construction of medical buildings. Irmischer's experience and expertise were called upon to facilitate a single-source design and construction process among multiple specialty physicians.

Completed in 2000, Internal Medicine Associates comprises an outpatient catheterization lab, infusion lab, medical oncology and endocrinology center, urgent care facility, business offices, imaging lab, and numerous specialty suites, including pulmonology, cardiology, and gastroenterology.
