

Project:
Medical Office Building
Warsaw, Indiana

Challenged to design and build the Kosciusko Community Hospital (KCH) medical office project within a limited budget and short time frame, Irmscher, Inc. prepared multiple design alternatives for the owner's review and promptly began foundation construction while design was being finalized.

The planning phase of this project included a long-range master plan for future development and medical practice layouts for determining building size and configuration. Irmscher's design team also assisted the owner with the coordination of tenant build-out to insure the delivery of the project on schedule and within budget.
