

Project:
*Medical Office Building
 North Manchester, Indiana*

Prompted by a need to provide convenient medical care to a surrounding community, Kosciusko Community Hospital called upon Irscher's medical design and construction experience to create a medical office building in North Manchester, Indiana.

The project posed several challenges for Irscher, Inc., initially with the rigorous project schedule. In spite of a fast-track scheduling process, Irscher, Inc. was able to meet and exceed the owner's competitive bidding requirements, involving many local project participants. Secondly, through perceptive planning, Irscher, Inc. designed the structure to complement the immediate residential neighborhood surroundings.

Completed in February 2000, this 13,000 square foot structure, which now accommodates local family physicians, visiting specialist physicians, and a physical therapy center, provides the residents of North Manchester with increasingly convenient, comprehensive healthcare services.

Client:
Kosciusko Community Hospital

Architect:
Irscher, Inc.

Services Provided:
Design/Build